Description of Proceedings

The 2011 White Collar Crime National Institute will take place March 2-4, 2011, for the twenty fifth consecutive year, with a return to San Diego. Last year, attendance exceeded 1,250 at this annual gathering of the national white collar bar. The Institute proudly continues to present outstanding panelists who deal with some of the most significant issues of our time.

Over the past two decades, this Institute has been attended by federal and state judges and prosecutors, other law enforcement officials, defense attorneys, corporate in-house counsel and members of the academic community. The faculty regularly includes some of the leading members of the white collar bar in the United States and abroad. Among the audience are nationally renowned lawyers as well as many who are beginning to concentrate in the white collar area. The Institute is known for the exceptional quality of its publication, the panelists' presentations, the valuable updates on new developments and strategies, as well as the rare opportunity to meet colleagues in this field, renew acquaintances and exchange ideas. This year, we will once again present a panel for newer practitioners on March 2 in the afternoon, with an emphasis on building a white collar criminal practice.

The 2011 keynote panels will focus on the most significant fraud trials of the past year, as well as a discussion of the ethical obligations of white collar lawyers. The Institute will have excellent representation from the corporate sector, including representatives from Prudential Financial Services, Pfizer, Morgan Stanley, International Paper Company and Schlumberger. The Institute will also include senior members of the Department of Justice, prosecutors and distinguished members of the federal judiciary.

Raymond Banoun, Chair of the Institute

9:15 a.m. Lessons Learned from Recent Trials

Panelists will analyze some of the key pre-indictment, jury selection, evidentiary and tactical decisions and issues that arose in recent cases, including Karatz (option backdating), WebMD (financial statement fraud) and U.S. v. Petters (Ponzi scheme).

Ronald J. Nessim, Moderator
Joseph T. Dixon, III
John W. Kecker
John F. Lauro
Paul Stern

10:45 a.m. Coffee Break

11:00 a.m. Breakout Session I

A. Developments and Trends in Securities Fraud Enforcement

The panel will explore current topics and trends, including the increasingly active role of federal judges in reviewing SEC settlements, the increased focus on charging individuals, the impact of the Dodd-Frank whistleblower provisions and the debate over the value of credit for cooperation.

Pamela Chepiga, Moderator
Miguel A. Estrada
Christopher L. Garcia
Robert S. Khuzami
Noah B. Perlman

B. Big Cases: What to Do at the Beginning

Panelists will consider practical issues that arise, and options available, during investigations that are significant to a corporation, including responding to the execution of search warrants, the service of grand jury subpoenas requiring extensive searches, and catastrophic events and negative publicity that follow disclosures of such government actions.

Michael A. Collora, Moderator
Leslie R. Caldwell
Kevin M. Downing
Douglas M. Lankler
Laurence A. Urgenson

ETHICS

C. The Ethical and Legal Line Between Zealous Advocacy and Obstruction of Justice

This panel will explore the line between a legitimate defense to a criminal investigation and unethical or illegal conduct, and address such ethical issues as a client inquiry regarding document retention and disposal in the midst of a criminal investigation, and the discovery of stolen, falsified, or discoverable evidence.

Prof. Bruce Green, Moderator
Paul E. Coggins
Beong-Soo Kim
Prof. Ellen S. Podgor
Earl J. Silbert

D. The Foreign Corrupt Practices Act – Recent Developments

The panel will discuss recent prosecution and enforcement actions, future priorities, U.S. cooperation with foreign law enforcement authorities, the parameters for use of monitors, and the effectiveness of programs.

Peter B. Clark, Moderator
Charles E. Duross
Mark F. Mendelsohn
Monty Raphael
Cheryl J. Scarboro
Robert W. Tarun

E. Mortgage Fraud

Mortgage fraud and abuses of the foreclosure process continue to be top priorities of federal and state prosecutors. This panel will discuss recent enforcement strategies and trends, and successful defenses of individuals and institutions, as well as compliance steps to avoid significant harm.

John C. Hueston, Moderator
Dorothy C. Kim
Charles G. La Bella
Gary S. Lincenberg
Steven A. Tyrrell

12:30 p.m. White Collar Crime Committee Luncheon

Keynote Speaker: To be announced.

2:00 p.m. Breakout Session II

A. Public Corruption

This panel will explore the government's corruption priorities and the best methods for defending such cases. It also will analyze whether conflicts of interests are still prosecutable, and the Department's approach in light of the difficulty in convicting public officials at trial.

Joshua R. Hochberg, Moderator
Robert M. Cary
Patrick M. Collins
Laura A. Miller
Jack Smith

B. The Sentencing Guidelines – How Are They?

Panelists will discuss the weight courts give the new Sentencing Guidelines and other factors considered in determining sentences, and will offer advice on such critical issues as loss calculations.

Jane W. Moscovitz, Moderator
Amy Baron-Evans
William B. Carr, Jr.
James E. Felman
Nicholas C. Harbist

C. Global Internal Investigations

Both criminal conduct and criminal investigations and prosecutions regularly transcend international borders. The panelists will consider the opportunities and obstacles faced by prosecutors, in-house counsel and defense lawyers as they gather evidence and build prosecutions and defenses, including the use of foreign laws and procedures to one's advantage.

Alice S. Fisher, Moderator
Mitchell S. Ettinger
Shelly L. Goldklang
Andreas D. Länzlinger
Dianne Ralston

D. Ponzi Schemes – When There Is Nothing There

Panelists will consider issues presented during these challenging cases, including how to deal with the statutes that are commonly employed, pre-indictment obstacles raised by parallel proceedings, bankruptcy, forfeiture and receiverships, setting of bail, jury selection, and crafting viable defenses.

Vincent J. Marella, Moderator
Bruce A. Baird
Marc P. Berger
Janet I. Levine
Gary P. Naftalis

E. Antitrust Enforcement

Panelists will review recent developments and current enforcement priorities, and explore the issues that arise in connection with leniency applications, plea agreements, parallel prosecutions where multiple jurisdictions are involved, simultaneous criminal and civil proceedings and companion FCPA charges, as well as the impact on defense strategy of border watches, Interpol Red Notices, extradition requests, and lengthy limitations on travel as conditions of pre-trial release.

Gary R. Spratling, Moderator
Kathleen M. Beasley
Stephen B. Donovan
Scott D. Hammond
Ray V. Hartwell, III

3:15 p.m. Coffee Break

3:45 p.m.

Breakout Session III

A. Honest Services Fraud

This panel will analyze the future of the “honest services” theory following the Supreme Court’s decision in Skilling, including the way the government has responded to the Court’s narrowing of the scope of the statute, and the various proposed congressional “fixes.”

Prof. Julie R. O’Sullivan, Moderator
Raymond Banoun
Martha A. Boersch
Denis J. McInerney
Frank C. Razzano

B. Criminal Tax Fraud

This panel will highlight the government’s increased enforcement efforts targeting offshore accounts and financial institutions, the future of the voluntary disclosure program and the ethical issues involved in defending a criminal tax case.

Charles M. Meadows, Jr., Moderator
Kevin M. Downing
Robert S. Fink
Paula M. Junghans
Alka Sagar

C. Motions Practice in Criminal Cases

The group will discuss such topics as determining the appropriate pre-trial motion to file, considering alternative discovery avenues and parallel proceedings, FOIA options, and shaping the defense and trial by considering motions in limine, changes of venue, and bringing misconduct to the attention of the court where appropriate.

Morris Weinberg, Jr., Moderator
Sandra R. Brown
Michael B. Galvin
Kurt Stitcher
David M. Zinn

D. Data Mining Social Networking Sites: Investigative and Evidentiary Issues

In our high tech society, social networking sites are playing an ever-increasing role. These sites provide a means of connecting with others and sharing information, but also often contain detailed personal journals, photographs, and biographical information. In connection with a criminal case, such information may prove to be a gold mine for purposes of cross examination. Panelists will discuss ways to “data mine” social networking site information and the associated issues these may raise.

Sherri L. Schornstein, Moderator
Sergio D. Kopelev
Prof. Laurie L. Levenson
Hemanshu Nigam
Jonathan N. Rosen

E. Money Laundering and Asset Forfeiture

This panel will discuss the latest developments in money-laundering jurisprudence and the government’s use of these laws to supplement its prosecutions. Topics will include the filing of civil money laundering charges against financial institutions and the use of deferred prosecution agreements.

Gordon A. Greenberg, Moderator
Noreen M. Fierro
Keith Hennessey
Saverio Lembo
Jennifer Shasky Calvery

F. When Is It Worth the Risk? Proffers, Queen for a Day and Asserting the Fifth in Pre-Indictment Negotiations

Panelists will consider strategies associated with, and practical concerns when, giving proffers or declining to be interviewed by the government, including the types of assurances that defense counsel should seek and expect to receive, the value of Queen for a Day agreements, the extent of what a client should reveal at proffer sessions, and the perils and benefits of asserting the Fifth Amendment privilege.
